THE NEGRO BAST CASE IN EROCELYN—EXTRAORDINABY PROCEEDINGS.

In this case it was anxiously expected all day that Judge Harculo would have given his opinion on the application for an injunction; but Mr. Culver, it was understood (the counsel for the applicant), did not produce the gromised authorities, and no decision was pronounced up to the rising of the Ceurt, at a late hour last evening.
To keep up the interest of the drama, however, another seem, or episode, was got up in the meantime. The sounsel for the applicant, Mr. Culver, sued out a writ of habeas corpus, and obtained a warrant under the 80th section of the habeas cerpus act, in order to bring Mrs. Cooper and the child before the court forthwith. There was some difficulty at first in getting this process executed; but the sheriff of New Yerk having deputized Mr. Rem. R. Hegeman, one of the deputy sheriff of Kiegs county, and Deputy Sheriff Crumley, of New York, accompanying him, the two experts started on their errand, leaving all in the greatest state of abulety and expectation till their return. Among the attendants in the court were Mr.
Lewis Tappan (whise) the Rev. Mr. Pennington, (black) and many other distinguished characters. At a late hour the emissary returned, and related his adventures, in substance as follows:—They proceeded to execute the warrant at No. 101 Mercer street on Mrs. Cooper, and having arrested the interesting child and her guardian.
Mr. Hegeman conceded to them the privilege of calling on their counsel, Mr. James T. Brady. at his chambers in Warren street; while there their own carriage was sent for Ca, tain Rynders, who arrived with in a few minutes, and as the officers that they could not take the child, and wanted to know what authority the officers, or any court of Kings county, had in New York? The officers having reduced all these facts into detail, in the shape of an affidavit, an application was made for an astachment against Captain Rynders, Mrs. Cooper and Pepsity Sheriff Cromley, for contempt of count, in

of emigration to the metropolis of the Western World.

Arranger of a Swindler. An individual, who is known by the name of A. C. Fletcher, was yesterday brought before Justice Blatchley, of this city, on a warrant, wherein he stands charged with obtaining money from Mr. H. Croeker, of Washington street, by false and fraudulent representations. It is alleged that he obtained various sums of money from different individuals in this city, within two or three weeks past, after which nothing was heard of him until his arrest, which was made by officer Du Flors, of the Seventh ward. He was held to answer.

The annual agricultural show and fair took place in this town on the 17th instant, at which some very fine cattle were exhibited, and the display of vegetables was such as might well be put forward in competition with those of any country.

A very fine clipper built bark of 267 tons, named the Sir George Seymour, (after our present distinguished admiral.) was launched on the 23d inst., from the building yard of Messrs. Outerbridge & Davis. She is composed of the Bermuda cedar, and is well and faithfully built. She is the first vessel of any size that has been built here for a great number of years. Nathaniel S. Butterfield, Esq., one of our leading merchants, is the party for whom the vessel has been built; and I trust that his example will be followed by others having means at their disposal, and that the business of shipbuilding will increase in these islands. The Bermuda cedar is a most durable wood, and it has very much fallen in value of late years, in consequence of the small amount of shipbuilding that has been carried on for some years past, and also owing to the clearing up the land for tillage. If I am rightly informed, a great portion of the timber used in shipbuilding in the State of Maine is brought there from Virginia. Now, it is a question worthy of consideration whether timber could not be brought to Bermuda, and vessels built at a less cost than in the State of Maine. The expense of transportation would be less, owing to the shorter distance, while the cost of labor (at present very high in America.) would be much less here. I merely throw out the hint for the consideration of those best able to judge in the matter.

Mysterious Affair in Philadelphia.

[From the Evening Bulletin, June 6.] A genteel looking young firsh woman, calling herself Bridget Fairel, was at the Mayor's office this morning, seeking redress for a great wrong that had been inflicted upon her. The story of the woman, who represents herself as a widow, is as follows:—In January last she gave birth to a male infant. Some time in the following March she was employed as a seamstress by a lady, whose name we suppress at present. The lady took a fancy to the child, and importaned the mother to allow her teadopt it. To this arrangement the latter positively refused to accede. On the 28th of April, the lady invited Mirs. Fairel to accompany her on a visit to some friends over the Schuyikill. Bridget accepted the invitation, and wont, leaving her child behind her, at the suggestion of her pretended friend. The carriage was driven to the Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane, where Bridget was locked up in a ceil, under a charge of insanity. Here she naturally became much excited, and raved violently for her child. On Thursday last, at her earnest solicitation, she was brought to the city to see her infant. The poor woman says there was some design to transfer her to another insane asylum, and the ran off after she had reached the city, in spite of the efforts made by the man who had the care of her, to prevent her escapa. The infant had, neantime, been taken care of by the person who had caused the incareeration of the mother. The latter obtained the assistance of an officer, and procured her child.

This is certainly a very mysterious affair. The woman seems perfectly sane, and quite intelligent, and declares that at the time of her removal to the asylum she had not been sick, nor had she exhibited any violence of demeanor. It is difficult to conceive what could have prompted the lady to act in the manner described, unless the woman was really insane and we incline to the ENCHANTED MOUNTAIN IN TEXAS.—They have strange things in Texas, as well as wicked doings. The following acceount of a great natural curtosity in that country is from the Texas Telegraph:—This singular mountain, or hill, is situated on the head waters of the Sallec—a small tributary of the Colorado, about eighty miles from Bastrop, in a nor thwesterly direction. It is about three hundred feet high, and appears to be an enormous owal rock, partly imbedded in the earth. Whee the sun shines the light is reflected from its polished surface as from an immense mirror, and the whole mountain glows with such a dazzling radiance that the beholder who views it, even from a distance of four or five miles, is unable to gaze upon it without experiencing a painful sensation, similar to that which is leit when leoking upon the rising sun. The ascent of the bill is so very gradual that persons can easily walk up to the top; but the rock is so smooth and slippery that those that make the attempt are compelled to wear moocasins or stockings instead of shoes. This act, togother with the name of the place. Holy Mountain, reminds the visitant very forcibly of the command made to Moses at Mount Horeb, "Put off thy shoes from off thy feet." The Gamanches regard this hill with religious veneration, and Indian pilgrims frequently assemble from the remotest borders of the tribe to perform their Paynim rites upon its summit.

The Widow of Gen. Harrison.—The estimable widow of Gen. Harrison still occupies a portion of the old mansion at North Bend, where she is watched over by the filial care of the family of Col. Taylor. She is in the sense evening of a long and eventful life, and though bearing the weight of many years, is still able to move about her room. This excellent woman became the wife of Gen. (then Capt.) Harrison, near the close of the last century, while he was in command of Fort Washington, now Cincinnati. Her father, Judge Symmes, was principal of the original proprietors of the Miami purchase—a tract of 248,000 acres, which was first purchased at a price of sixty six cents per acre. The present Harrison estate consists of 80 acres at North Bend, and 420 at the mouth of the Miami. The property is as yet undivided, though it is the intention of the heirs to effect a division in the coming season. This step is rendered necessary by the fact that from the almost constant absence of the land has so far deteriorated that a strong personnal interest in the soil is indispensable to its resuncitation. The estate formerly embraced a large tract of intervale land to the northward, but is now mostly composed of high rolling lands near the Ohio.—Cor. Ohio State Journal. THE WIDOW OF GEN.
